A New Phase Developed

WASHINGTON, Dec [illegible]—The speakership fight has taken a new and most interesting phase since last night The stalwart element of the republican party, led by Senator Cameron are now hotly engaged in trying to make a combination on Keifer Cameron went to New York two or three days ago and consulted with stalwart leaders there He is working with all his influence for Keifer here Anti stalwarts are aware of this and have concentrated on Hiscock This leaves Kasson a bad third

If Keifer is elected he will be claimed as a stalwart victory An anti Cameron member from Pennsylvania said to day that the stalwarts take Keifer as a third candidate to beat Hiscock and Kasson and Keifer's friends had agreed to combine This member says that twelve of the Pennsylvania delegation are certain for Hiscock and thinks fourteen will vote certain for him Keifer has two and Kasson probably two but the chances are that Kasson's two may go to Keifer Friends of Keifer claim that Hiscock has only seven votes from Pennsylvania All members Cameron can influence will go for Keifer The terms of this combination are that Keifer shall try to get a stalwart delegation from Ohio in 1884 Butterworth and other Ohioans admit there is a stalwart combination but deny that Keifer is committed to the stalwarts in any way and that this talk is intended to hurt him. Hiscock claims forty five votes at first ballot and possibly as many as sixty-six, and his nomination on the third ballot Keifer claims two votes from California, one from Colorado and fifty five at the start

Cabinet Rumors.

It is rumored this afternoon that the president will next week seek to unite the names of ex Senator Frelinghuysen for secretary of state and Chauncey I Filly for postmaster general Also that other members of the cabinet will remain in their respective positions until after the Christmas holidays,

Settling the Garfield Bills.

NEW YORK, Dec 2—A Washington special says One of the first things that will be brought up in congress is the settlement of bills incident to the late president's illness Gen Garfield's friends will advocate the appointment of a commission to audit all bills and make a statement to the secretary of the treasury, whom they will ask to be given power to pay the amount from any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated. It is thought in this way the matter may be fixed up quietly without any undignified squabbling in congress, over the amount of money needed Physicians have been asked by a financial agent of Mrs. Garfield to send in their bills but they have refused to do so

What the Doctors will Charge.

Dr Bliss said he would not think of taking anything from Mrs Garfield What would be a mere bagatelle to the government, would be a large amount to her

Dr Agnew has figured up the direct loss to him through his connection with the case, and it amounts, it is reported, to $9500.

Dr Bliss loss of practice and expenses incident to his devotion to the president amounts also to some $10,000. This shows nothing for the constant service anxiety and labor, as nurse and physician, night and day, for the long weeks of the president's illness Agnew and Hamilton did not give all their time to the case, or their loss would have been much greater, but Dr Bliss surrendered his entire practice of necessity

Drs Agnew, Hamilton and Bliss, it is expected will consider $25,000 apiece about a fair compensation for their work

Drs Barnes and Woodward are officers of the government, so that they suffered no pecuniary loss from their attendance in the case Physicians hope that the matter will be settled before the holidays, and Gen Garfield's friends desire this settled before eulogies are pronounced

Silver for the Mints.

WASHINGTON, Dec 1—The treasury department to day bought 385,000 ounces of fine silver for delivery at the mints of Philadelphia, San Francisco, Carson City and New Orleans

Life Saving Service Report.

The superintendent of life saving service in his annual report says At the close of the fiscal year the service included 183 stations, 149 on the Atlantic, 34 on the lakes and six on the Pacific Number of casualties on the Atlantic coast within scope of the service, 151 on the lakes, [illegible], on the Pacific 53 Number of persons lost [illegible], number brought ashore by life saving appliances, 409 and succor afforded to 407 At various stations [illegible] vessels were helped by life saving crews to get off when stranded and piloted in places of safety The estimated value of vessels wrecked within scope of the service, together with cargoes, is $1,754,752 Of this amount [illegible] 680 was saved The general superintendent recommends additional stations on the Atlantic coast and lakes, and urges that compensation to keepers and crews be increased to a living rate

That Everlasting Trial Again.

NEW YORK, Dec 2—Speaking of the Christiancy divorce case, the Herald's Washington special says Direct testimony on the original bill and answer is now closed and the next step will be rebuttal evidence on the part of plaintiff This will not be entered upon for a week or ten days to come, and then much of it will be taken in New York city before a commissioner selected for that purpose Among the first witnesses to be examined will be Edil Giro who has expressed a wish to refute, as he says, some of the calumnies that have been put out against him in the case

A Witness Returned.

Charles Goodman, witness in the Christiancy case, who left without signing his deposition, has returned He says Miss Chamberlain and the other missing witnesses will be here in a few days

Secretary Folger's Idea.

NEW YORK, Dec 2—Commercial's Washington special says It is believed Secretary Folger will deal plainly and directly in his report with the silver question It is said he is in cordial agreement with the views of the director of the mint as to the bad result certain to follow a continuance of the present rate of coinage of standard dollars, there appearing to be little ground for hoping for any international agreement respecting the coinage of silver at a fixed rate The secretary does not consider it preferable or safe to longer continue the effort to depreciate the value of silver It is thought by stopping the coinage in this country, we may compel other governments to come to some understanding

Changing the Depository.

Secretary Folger has issued an order discontinuing the United States depository at Tucson, Arizona Lord & Williams, bankers were the government agents and as they are large contractors and speculators the secretary says he hesitated to longer trust them with the funds Disbursing checks and drafts are payable now at San Francisco at the sub treasury There are two national banks about to be realized at Tucson and one of them will be the government depository on appointment

Out of Present Danger.

The present grand jury will indict neither Dorsey nor Brady

THE GUITEAU TRIAL.

The Prisoner Tells the Story of the Assassination.

AN ACT OF COLD-BLOODED, [illegible]

A [illegible] Mistake—Putting Guiteau on the Witness Stand—His Testimony [illegible] Expert of His Responsibility [illegible]

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

[illegible]

Judge Porter [illegible] cross examination

[illegible] written by Guiteau [illegible] Guiteau, who read one of the [illegible] for his insubordination and contained a confession that he had acted under the influence of his own self willed conceit and fanatical disposition

Guiteau insisted in spite of warnings in making his explanations as reading progressed 'I was elbowing out of the community then' said witness 'You want to imagine yours lives in hell, ladies and gentlemen trying to get out then you can understand my position at that time'

Witness repeatedly refused to answer questions or as he termed it to discuss the matter Under an inquiry at one time he appealed to the court for protection against the manner of cross examination

Judge Porter said 'I have not attempted to force a reply from you Mr Guiteau If you will allow the jury to understand that you refuse to answer, it will suit my purpose just as well'

Witness at once turned to Judge Porter and inquired 'Well what was your question judge?'

Witness was then asked if his entering Oneida community was inspiration or if his leaving it was inspiration and he declined to discuss the subject

Judge Porter then produced Guiteau's book 'Truth' which witness had claimed was the result of direct inspiration from the Deity and compared it, paragraph by paragraph with the 'Berean' the Oneida community book written by John H Noyes The similarity of ideas and identity of expression was apparent all through though the witness struggled desperately to explain away his palpable plagiarism

The first question Judge Porter asked was 'Was it one of your purposes in removing the president to create a demand for your book?'

Answer—'Yes, sir with modifications that it was to teach the gospel'

Witness at once became excited and wildly insisted upon his inspiration—that the Lord had selected him to do the work He was no fool The Lord never selected fools to do his work He had inspired him to remove Garfield and left him (witness) to use his own judgment as to selected means (continuing excitedly) and the Lord has taken care of me I have neither been shot nor hanged

Judge Porter—And you did not expect to be?

Answer—I decline to discuss the matter with you I did not have any thought of the matter at all

The witness believed in a personal deity and devil, and when the impulse to remove the president seized him he wrestled and prayed to find if it came from the Lord or the devil and had it not been for the political situation it would not have been necessary for him but the removal was for the good of the country and American people Were it not for this witness would not have shot the president, but would have believed the impulse prompted by the devil.

Witness was then asked 'Are you insane at all?' He replied, 'I am not an expert let these experts and the jury decide that'

Being pressed for his opinion witness declined to answer He was then subjected to a rapid series of questions and soon began to exhibit irritability and anger and his replies when given at all were in short jerky sentences He was asked if he laid in wait for the president in an alley by night and after a short wrangle he said

'Now you are on that I'll give you late news I'll tell you what occurred that evening of July 1st'

Witness then detailed his movements up to the time he saw the president and Secretary Blaine emerge from the house of the latter and walk down Fifteenth Guiteau said 'They walked along so lovingly arm in arm they had their heads together like two school girls Their fellowship was delightful, and it confirmed me in the belief that Garfield had sold himself body and soul to Blaine and that Blaine was using him to ruin the stalwart wing of the republican party

Guiteau there became furiously excited and plunged into a wild harangue denouncing Blaine as a bold wicked designing man, who wanted to ruin the republican party in revenge for the two times he had been slaughtered by political conventions Striking his fist on the desk with considerable violence, he shouted 'You sir in my opinion Blaine is equally responsible for the death of Garfield' Recess

At five minutes past one the cross examination of Guiteau was resumed Witness did not intend to remove the president on the night that he visited the Christian church He went to see where the president sat He intended to remove him whenever he could find a favorable opportunity If he had removed him then he would have shot him through the head He visited the jail about the first of June He wanted to see it because he expected he would be taken there for removing the president He had his pistol with him in the alley on the night of July 1 He took it out and examined it and would probably have shot Garfield that night if he had been alone but Blaine was with him It was a hot night and witness was not feeling well so he did not try to shoot the president that night

Judge Porter—Did you think it would make you better to pull that trigger?

Guiteau angrily and muttering about Judge Porter's manner of speaking, 'No Don't you put on that trigger business'

In course of cross questioning the witness said, 'I had to move myself up to it all the time'

Judge Porter—Your conscience troubled you did it?

Witness became very angry and excited and retorted, 'Conscience has nothing to do with it From the first of June I never had any doubt of the necessity for his removal The act was by the Deity, and conscience has nothing to do with it

Being pressed for his reason for wanting to go to jail after killing the president Guiteau said

'For my own protection I did not know what would be the effect upon the people's mind I didn't want to be exposed to a howling mob I thought they would say disappointed office seeker let's hang him up, and I knew I would have no time or chance to make known my motives and inspiration,

Examination of Guiteau was continued to quarter past two and prisoner [illegible] his [illegible] between his brother and Scoville

At 3.30 P M court adjourned

Guiteau Phrenologically Viewed.

NEW YORK Dec 2—A Post's Washington special says Judge Lawrence, first comptroller of the treasury, who occupied the bench with Judge Cox at the Guiteau trial yesterday says of the assassin As I sat looking down upon him yesterday I could not help being struck with the appearance which his head presented to one who views it as a phrenologist It is almost flat on top from the forehead to the crown which rises prominently and almost perpendicularly from the nape of his neck This if I understand anything of phrenology indicates vanity and self conceit the latter strongly developed I have not studied the evidence submitted in the case but it shows Guiteau to have had a distinct idea of the enormity of his crime then It will appear that the only motive for it was that he felt aggrieved over his treatment in the [illegible] of the Paris consulate His self conceit was hurt and he wanted revenge and that should not be considered insanity

Some Hard Hits

CHICAGO Dec 2—The Tribune's Washington correspondent's observations are intensified in its headlines Always audacity the assassin's action showing reliance on [illegible] infinite egotism horrible blasphemy and cold logical cunning steady and persistent attack of the great cross examiner intermittent rage of the wretch at mention of facts of the murder a fury shown that would [illegible] inspire the removal of Judge Porter feelings of the hideous hypocrite wounded by a reference to sacred subjects 'Charles Julius Guiteau is now rashly driving nails in his coffin his morning perusal [illegible] shocking but his brother works with remarks [illegible] the experts it is said are fast abandoning the idea of any aberration whatever

Guiteau's Contemptible Acts.

Other episodes have the following Frequently Guiteau would break out into a leap of passion telling Porter he was impudent that his questions were dishonest that he was stupid and the like and whenever the lawyer became especially impressive in manner and proposed a question with peculiar severity Guiteau would infuse his tone and gesture in his retort, and with such [illegible] that it was impossible not to [illegible] Porter was evidently unprepared for such a reception and was no doubt embarrassed by it [illegible]

Comstock Notes.

VIRGINIA CITY, Dec 1—There yet remains but fifty feet to be run to complete the connection between the east and west drifts on the 2500 level of Sierra Nevada and Union Consolidated During the past day or two they have been cutting through heavy seams and stringers of ore all of which are making to the southward This is considered to be good evidence that the ore body cut on the 2500 level comes down to the 2700 level On the 2500 level where last seen the ore body was twenty feet in width starting from nothing 28 feet above and it was thought that the bulge might come in at the 2600 level The stronger seams now found indicate that an ore body of considerable width extends to the [illegible] level As the air is good in both drifts across it will be started south for the ore body the moment connection is made between the two drifts, as there is no water to hinder and the ventilation is excellent Prospecting will be rapidly prosecuted hence forward and interesting developments may be daily expected

A Confession of Crime.

A few days ago news was received from Yale that a man named Patrick Kelly had been found in an unconscious condition on the trail near Spuzzum Death was supposed to have resulted from exposure and a coroner's jury returned a verdict in accordance with this supposition Nothing more was thought of the affair until last evening when a man who gave name of John Kelly surrendered himself to the police and after being duly cautioned made a statement to the effect that he left a public house on the Yale wagon road in company with the deceased about eight days ago They were under the influence of liquor and after travelling together an altercation took place between them, and from words blows ensued, and John Kelly knocked the deceased down and left him lying on the trail and proceeded to this city The circumstances of the deed did not disturb the deponent's mind until he read of the death and inquest and then his conscience so troubled him that he could not rest until he had unburdened his mind Last evening he was taken to jail for safe keeping and on being interrogated said he would rather not make any further statement as he supposed that what he had said about being in company with the deceased and knocking him down was said when he was under the influence of liquor He is a man of about thirty years of age and will appear in the police court this morning

Death of Judge Robertson

The painful suspense and great anxiety which have been manifested amongst all classes of this community for several days past with regard to the illness of Mr Justice Robertson culminated yesterday afternoon in his demise Although there was cause for alarm from the time that the operation was performed on him Saturday last yet up to Tuesday afternoon no particularly unfavorable symptoms developed themselves He then began to sink rapidly under the shock which his system had sustained. For a short time yesterday forenoon he seemed to rally slightly but it was only the last flickering of exhausted nature for at 3.40 P M he departed calmly and peacefully to the spirit land exemplifying in death as throughout a blameless life, all the beautiful traits of his eminently Christian character The effect of the shock following the operation upon a highly sensitive organization was such that no recuperative energy supervened The deceased gentleman returned to this city from his judicial circuit in Yale and other districts about a month ago suffering from lameness the immediate cause of which was brought on from a cut he received on a rock while bathing in the North Thompson last summer and was at once ordered by his medical advisers to give the limb perfect rest From that time he did not rise from his bed He leaves a wife and seven children His death has cast a gloom over the entire province

[illegible]

The Times on our Tariff.

The Times in an editorial article discussing the tariff convention held in New York says the tariff may be revised but it is not likely sweeping changes will be made while the present extraordinary prosperity in America is maintained It is unwise for those English manufacturers who have been hoping to see the market—long closed to them—reopened to deceive themselves with the expectancy of any speedy movement toward free trade Americans will recognize the futility of battling against economic laws and will perceive the waste of national energy which protection involves but at present free traders are lukewarm while protectionists are active, eager and united

Afraid of American Competition.

LONDON Dec 2—James W Barclay member of parliament for [illegible]farshire a well known advocate of a readjustment of the land tenure system addressing farmers at Birmingham for the purpose of explaining the landlord and tenant bill drafted by the farmers alliance to the landlords of England, emphatically stated that the force of American competition was spent He had only recently returned from America and was strongly of the opinion that competition would become more and more serious

The Chilian Question.

NEW YORK Dec 2—The World reviewing the Chilian question says It is by an unfortunate condescension of Chilian representatives in Europe to the financial schemes of a speculative English house, bent on enriching itself at the expense alike of Peru and Chili and of the agriculture of the world, that Chili has been brought to her present danger, not to say ridiculous position. It is quite clear, we are glad to say, that the administration of Arthur does not intend to permit Chili to be successfully used, however, for English greed on the west coast of South America It may be awkward for Chili to withdraw gracefully from the position she has taken up but if Chili is allowed to hold these positions it would be much more awkward to abandon them as Maximilian of Austria abandoned finally the throne of the Aztecs The Austrians were clever people, If they are wise, as well as clever, they will be wise in time

The Insanity Dodge.

Speaking of this insanity dodge the New York Post remarks

Guiteau's case is creating such a powerful presumption in the public mind against the existence of insanity in criminals that the poor lunatics who commit crimes during the next few months are likely to have a hard time of it. The latest criminal who 'claims' to be insane is the man who has been threatening Jay Gould's life in order to compel him to give him 'points' in stocks; but he literally ruined his case when arrested by showing manifest signs of fear and mortification This no genuine irresponsible lunatic would do, and the incredulity with which this man's claim to insanity is received should be a warning to all others whose affairs are in disorder, and who are casting about for the means of righting them A really irresponsible lunatic does not mind being arrested, and in fact, rather likes it. Guiteau unluckily for himself, made arrangements to run away after the murder

EQUITABLE
LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY,
120 Broadway, New York.
LIFE INSURANCE PROFITS DEMONSTRATED BY ACTUAL SETTLEMENTS MADE IN 1880.
The Society is now paying maturing Tontine Policies with the following remarkable results:
POLICIES CARRIED TEN YEARS WITH THE RETURN OF ALL PREMIUMS PAID AND INTEREST THEREON.
1st Example: Policy No 43,543, issued May 23 1870, Amount ... $10,000 00
Total premiums paid (11 years) ... 5,594 00
The assured is now entitled to draw, in cash, $6 455.80, having had besides $10,000 of assurance for eleven years. 115 per cent of premiums paid, returnable in cash
This example and those which follow show that
LARGER PROFITS ARE PAID POLICY-HOLDERS THAN ARE NOW DECLARED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY.
2d Example: Policy No 58,543, issued Dec. 30, 1870. Endowment 20 years. Tontine Period ten years.
Amount ... $10,000 00
Total premiums paid (10 years) ... [illegible]
The assured on Dec. 30 1880, will be entitled to draw in cash, [illegible], [illegible] per cent. of the premiums paid.
These results, although predicted by carefully made estimates, are
NOT ESTIMATES, BUT ACTUAL CASH RETURNS.
3d Example: Policy No 41,621, issued March 27, 1870 Amount ... $5,000 00
Total premiums paid ... 2,308 95
In this case the assured withdrew, March 27, 1880, in cash, $3,412 45, being [illegible] per cent. of premiums paid.
Many policies will be thus paid in 1881, showing
CASH RETURNS OF FROM 100 TO 120 PER CENT. OF THE PREMIUMS PAID.
Assets securely invested of $43,000,000 Surplus, nearly $10,000,000. The Society's popularity is shown by the fact that for the past eleven years the total amount of new policies issued has been greater than that of any other company in existence, thus making its average
ANNUAL NEW BUSINESS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER COMPANY.
The Society pays death claims promptly and in full. Its policies are clear and concise, and with no unreasonable conditions
EVERY POLICY BECOMES INCONTESTABLE AFTER THREE YEARS.

THE RAILROAD PROBLEM.

This problem is discussed with unusual judgment and ability in a pamphlet written by Joseph Nimmo, chief of the bureau of statistics at Washington. He discusses the cost of transportation, railroad confederations or pooling arrangements, the proposition for governmental regulation of railroads and the large question of the relations of the railroads to the internal commerce of the United States. His first general head is an exhibit of the reductions in the cost of transportation on railroads, as shown by examination of schedules since 1868. Of course all lines are not included in this examination and comparison, but only the leading roads, as the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Erie and Western, the Michigan Central, and roads of this class. Taking thirteen roads, it appears that the tons of freight carried increased from 35,557,002 tons during the year 1873 to 78,156,913 tons during the year 1880, an increase of about 71.5 per cent. The receipts from freight, however, increased from $112,004,618 in 1873 to $143,388,178 in 1880, an increase of $31,383,530, or only about 28 per cent. This small rate of increase of receipts in proportion to the increase of traffic was due to the fact that the average rate per ton charged on these thirteen railroads fell from 1.77 cents per ton per mile in 1873 to 1.07 cent per ton per mile in 1880, a decrease of 39.5 per cent.

On some of them the reduction of rates was even greater. In 1868 the New York Central, the Erie and the Pennsylvania carried 11,193,120 tons, at the average rate of 2.15 cents per ton per mile. In 1880 they carried 38,863,714 tons at an average charge of .866 per ton per mile. It thus appears that the average traffic of these three roads was more than three times as great in 1880 as in 1868, and that, after making the proper allowance for currency values in 1868, the average freight charges imposed during the year 1880 were 60 per cent. less than during the year 1868.

To every person who gives the least attention to the subject, it must be apparent that it is altogether impossible to estimate the magnitude of the benefits which the reductions made in the charges for transportation on railroads have conferred upon the interests of agriculture, of mining, and of commerce. That the increase in the value of the domestic exports of the United States to foreign countries—from $442,820,178 during the year ended June 30, 1871, to $902,319,473 during the year ended June 30, 1881—has been largely due to such reductions is evident from the fact that such exports are chiefly the products of the western and northwestern states, a large proportion of which is transported to the seaboard on railroads.

The large and exceedingly complex discretionary power confided to railroad managers, with respect to the determination of freight charges is, of course, as a matter of official duty, as well as from the force of personal predilection, exercised by them immediately and primarily in the interests of their employers, the railroad companies. On the other hand those who represent, or who are especially interested in, or accountable to the agricultural, the manufacturing, the mining, and the commercial interests of the country, and those also who view the subject in its politico-economic aspects, differ widely from the railroad manager as to the weight which shall be given both to the economies of transportation and to those competing forces which indirectly tend to regulate or influence the charges imposed for transportation services. In attempting to give practical effect to all those influences which tend to determine the value of transportation services, the railroad manager is, of course, guided by the teachings of experience, and the natural bias of his calling. The advocates of the commercial and industrial interests of the country and those who espouse the interests of the public generally are, on the other hand, guided towards the conclusions which they may reach upon the same subject by such information as they may have been able to gain; and their opinions are also necessarily more or less influenced by that bias which invariably attaches to personal interest, and by those differences of mental and moral characteristics which cause men honestly to differ upon controverted questions.

This subject in its various economic, commercial and political aspects is, from the nature of things, an exceedingly complex one. Every aspect of it has given rise to the expression of a great variety of views. The discussions growing out of this contrariety of opinion run into almost endless detail with respect to the rates which should be charged for the transportation of different commodities, under an almost infinite variety of circumstances, and to the considerations which should be given to distance, to the quantity of particular commodities transported, and to the conflicting claims of sections and states, and of commercial and manufacturing towns and cities. This wide diversity of opinion and of interest embodies, and is at the same time an expression of, the so-called "railroad problem." A better understanding of the relation of transportation to the public interests ought to lead railroad managers to avoid just causes of complaint, and besides should lead the people generally to more correct views as to the relations of railroads to the commercial and industrial interests of the country. It is mentioned as a source of encouragement at the present time that fair-minded men who differ widely as to the nature and extent of the controlling and restraining influence which should be exercised by state and national governments, agree that there should be no unfair discriminations in rates, either with respect to persons or localities; that rates should be open and equal to all under like conditions, and also that any governmental regulations which may be established shall be both protective of the public interests and just to the proprietors of railroads.

Yet the current history of railroad transportation in the United States clearly indicates that there are evils connected with it which call for a public remedy; evils which affect not only the commercial and industrial interests of the country, but which also affect the railroads. Hence arises the demand for some sort of governmental intervention, either through the enforcement of specific provisions of law, or through the moral influence exerted by a well-grounded apprehension of such intervention, as a result of the scrutiny exercised by intelligent and faithful boards of railroad commissioners. If, however, statutory regulations are resorted to, the difficulties are great; and in most of our states where this mode of regulation has been tried, experience has shown the people that the advantages gained by them have in general been overborne by the inconvenience and losses which have resulted from application of inelastic statutes to a business of the most complex character.

All experience seems to prove that the solution of the transportation question of the country must be evolved by the specific application of means to ends. It cannot be spoken into being. If the government is to lend a helping hand in bringing about an adjustment of the difficulties which now exist, not only among the railroads but between them and the people, it must probably come about as the result of the formulation into positive enactments of practices in the dealings of railroads with each other and with the public, proved by experience to be just, proper, and necessary for mutual protection and the advancement of the interests of the country generally. The wisdom of such a course of procedure appears to be proved by the fact that every method which has been suggested of dealing with this great question, in its entirety, appears to lead to practical difficulties as great or perhaps greater, even, than those which are now encountered. The law in its application to questions touching the commercial and industrial interests of society has been a development, and not a creation, and it is probable, therefore, if not certain, that the settlement of the railroad question can be reached only by a similar process.

The Guiteau "trial" drags along as disgustingly as ever. For several days the assassin has been on the witness stand trying to make it appear to the jury that he is insane! It is a judicial farce and legal burlesque. It is edifying to see the defense in such a case conducted by a brother-in-law who pleads insanity to save the credit of the family, yet who assails the mental integrity of the family for three generations, in the interest of a villainous wretch, utterly without moral sensibility or any quality of character save the most hideous and detestable kind, whose miserable life this reflection on his ancestors is used as a base instrument to prolong. Though Scoville and all the rest have known for twenty years that this creature was an incurated scoundrel, without a single redeeming quality of character, they never a tempted to restrain or control him, and rejected with indignation the idea that the family was tainted with insanity and that this monster was the product of it, till he had committed a horrible crime which is but the natural fruit of his life-long worthlessness and villainy.

Burrard Inlet has been selected as the western terminus of the Canadian Pacific railway. This at least may be inferred from the fact that the department of railways of the Dominion of Canada has issued a notice asking for sealed tenders for construction of that portion of the Canadian Pacific between Port Moody on Burrard Inlet and a point near Emory's Bar on Fraser river. The distance between the points is about eighty-five miles. Burrard Inlet is one of the finest and safest harbors in the world. It is deep, landlocked, capacious and easy to enter. For many years it has been the centre of the lumber business of British Columbia.

Guiteau's former wife has not yet been put on the stand. But she says the assassin's conduct during the trial is in every way characteristic, and reminds her most forcibly of the devilish qualities of his mental composition. This lady, whose first venture in the matrimonial mill is described as worse than coming in contact with a buzz saw, is now happily married; and it is suggested that it would be in accord with the eternal fitness of things if her husband would appear as the next "avenger," as Guiteau has most scandalously used his wife's name since the trial began.

The business manager of the North American Review replies to the strictures of Judge Black. His statement is to the effect that the original agreement with Black and Ingersoll extended only to the first article published. Nothing was said as to the second articles, except that the second articles might be written. When Ingersoll's second article (forty-five pages) was sent to Black, he was informed that its length would cut off the privilege of replying in that number, but in the next number he should have as much space as Ingersoll.

U. S. MARSHAL'S CITATION.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, DISTRICT OF Oregon, ss.—Whereas, a libel of information hath been filed in the district court of the United States of America for the district of Oregon, on the 29th day of November, 1881, by Mr. Rufus Mallory, United States attorney, against the following described merchandise, viz: [illegible] cases and 2 kegs of brandy, [illegible] cases of gin, [illegible] kegs of whisky, 1 case of claret and 1 keg of rum, which, by Mr. John S. Oakford, deputy collector of customs at the port of Wrangel in the collection district of Alaska, on the 31st day of October, 1881, were seized as forfeited to the United States, for the reasons and causes in said libel mentioned, and praying that said process and monition of the said court in that behalf be made, and that all persons interested in the said merchandise may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the said property above mentioned may, for the causes in said libel mentioned, be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of the said court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give notice unto all persons claiming the said merchandise, or knowing or having anything to say why the same shall not be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, pursuant to the prayer of said libel of information, that they be and appear before the said district court, at the city of Portland, in said district, on Monday, the 2d day of January, 1882, at [illegible] o'clock in the forenoon of said day, if the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise at the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose a claim for the same and to make their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, in said District, this 2d day of December, 1881.
EDWARD S. KEARNEY,

THE THANE OF CAWDOR.

A good house, though not what might have been justly expected, greeted Mr. Sheridan and his company last night on the only performance of Macbeth that will be given during his stay in our midst. The stage manager had done his best to give the piece a sumptuous setting, and the costumes were in advance of the usual dramatic productions in this city. Sheridan was the cynosure of all eyes, and a volley of applause was his welcome at the finish of every great speech in the play. He dresses the part well, and his acting left no room for cavil. He was very fine in the dagger scene, as also in the banquet hall, where he fancies he meets the apparition of Banquo. Cotton was a better Macduff than we had a right to expect, and we believe his forte lies in legitimate drama, rather than in the modern society plays, where clothing and furniture are supposed to atone for the absence of dramatic plot and poetic verbiage. Miss Holbrook's Lady Macbeth was finely conceived, and the most captious critic could find no fault with the way she costumed the part. Her delivery of her lines was better than her rendition of Goneril on the opening night. She was twice called before the curtain with Sheridan, and shared the honors of the evening with him. While we do not deem Mr. Sheridan's rendition of Macbeth equal to his Lear, nevertheless it is a performance of marked merit and full of artistic study. In the "witches" scene he was full of startling vigor, and exhibited a highly original conception of the weighty task entrusted to him. Our own idea is that if ever here, says "The Iron Mask" he will make a sensation in it fully equal to the fame once enjoyed by the younger Wallace. He seems so full of reserved force that we never can imagine he is acting his utmost, vigorous as he is beyond doubt. A highly sensitive nervous organization sometimes carries him into a horrid utterance that savors of rant, but close attention may remedy that in time.

This afternoon "King Lear" as a matinee performance, and to-night "Richelieu." Of all tragedies outside of the works of Shakspeare this is the loftiest and most sublime. The character of the great cardinal is one but little understood by the common mind. He is generally regarded as a plotting, mischievous old prelate, whereas he has been a grand soldier in his youth and is a lofty dignitary of the church in his age. No character in all the history of France is more emblazoned with glory than Richelieu, and Bulwer has immortalized his virtues in a drama that will live and endure side by side with the loftiest tragedies of Shakspeare. We predict an overflowing house for to-night.

D. P. THOMPSON, MAYOR, FOR CERTAIN.

The Supreme Court Refuses to "Go Behind the Returns."

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SALEM, Dec. 2.—The mayoralty case was decided to-day in favor of Mayor D. P. Thompson, the supreme court holding that the decision of the common council of Portland was final and conclusive.

This telegram, received by THE OREGONIAN at noon yesterday, confirmed the belief generally expressed that the city council's action in declaring the contest between David P. Thompson and Joseph Simon a tie could not be disturbed. The court was unanimous in its decision. Very little commotion was raised by the news, which soon spread on the streets. Those who had any hope of office under Mr. Simon's administration felt that hope was gone, and Mayor Thompson's appointees of course felt more secure. Mr. W. S. Chapman after consultation with lawyers and friends, concluded to no longer make a contest for the office from which he was deposed, and turned over the city surveyor's effects to Mr. Taylor, who will assume charge this morning. Following is a syllabus of the case, furnished by our regular supreme court correspondent at Salem:

Joseph Simon app., vs. the Common Council of the city of Portland, resp., appeal from Multnomah county. Judgment of the lower court affirmed. Opinion by Waldo, J.

HEAD NOTES.

Section 22 of the charter of the city of Portland provides that "a certificate of election is primary evidence of the facts therein stated, but the council is the final judge of the qualifications and election of the mayor and of its own members, and in case of a contest between two persons claiming to be elected thereto, must determine the same."

In a contest before the common council between S. and T. for mayor, the council counted the ballots cast at the election and declared the vote a tie. S. claimed that the council committed legal errors in counting the ballots, which if legally and properly counted and such alleged errors corrected, would show a majority of votes cast for S. On an application for a writ of review directed to the council.

Held, That the decision of the council was final and conclusive.

TELLER'S TAKING OFF.

HIS WIFE CHARGED WITH MURDER.

And Held in Custody Without Bail. Teller's Dying Message, "My Wife Has Poisoned Me."

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SALEM, Dec. 2.—Mrs. G. W. Teller of Polk county was arrested this morning charged with the murder of her husband last Tuesday evening. The arrest took place immediately after the funeral. Preliminary examination was commenced in the afternoon before Justice of the Peace of Polk precinct, the state being represented by District Attorney Hon. W. G. Piper, and the defense by Messrs. Hayden, Ford and Knight. Drs. Hall and Reynolds of this city, who are making an analysis of the contents of the stomach, were subpoenaed as witnesses, but as their work is still unfinished, the trial was postponed until the 10th inst. Her attorneys made a motion to have her released on bail, which was refused, and she was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

The following facts concerning Teller's death have come to light: After he had finished his supper on the evening mentioned, he went to the front door and called to two Chinamen working near, asking them to come to him. He was then in great pain and in convulsions at short intervals. Returning inside, he wrote a note, handed it to one of the Chinamen with a request to take it to Charles Wicks, his nearest neighbor, and to tell Wicks to come immediately as he had been poisoned and was dying. The Chinaman hastened as bid and delivered the note to Mrs. Wicks, who answered the knock. Mrs. Teller was in the house and snatched the note from Mrs. Wicks' hand before she could read it. Mrs. Teller telling the Chinaman to follow her, returned home. As soon as the first Chinaman left Teller, taking two promissory notes from his pocket book, wrote on the back of one of them:

"Nov. 29th or 28th—My wife has poisoned me to-day. G. W. TELLER."

Handing it to the Chinaman, with the dying injunction not to give the note to his wife, Teller was seized with another convulsion, fell on the floor, and expired. This note is now in possession of the acting coroner. Upon Mrs. Teller's arrival she asked the second Chinaman whether her husband had left any writing. He responded in the negative.

The affair creates great excitement across the river, and is the subject of much comment here where Mr. and Mrs. Teller and their unhappy relations were well known.

RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

McMINNVILLE, Dec. 2, 1881.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Having watched with interest the many plans and propositions for deepening the channel of the Willamette, I desire to submit a plan also, but who is to decide which is the best plan? Is THE OREGONIAN to decide, or is there a board or a committee to consider these things? If there is no one authorized to act in regard to the matter there should be at once, a board of engineers or financiers, or both. I would like to know the speed of the current, the quality of the deposit and the width of the stream where the channel is to be deepened. The entire Willamette valley is impatient in regard to the deepening of this channel and well, they may be, for I verily believe that in the next five years the Willamette valley will not raise more than one-third of the grain that will be shipped annually from the Columbia and Willamette basin.

I have been on a tour in eastern Oregon and Washington recently, which establishes the above belief. I further believe that ere long more grain will be shipped annually out of the sound and the Columbia than there is out of the Golden gate. Therefore I think immediate action necessary. Let a committee or board be created with this special end in view, then we can write more to the point.

U. S. DEPUTY SURVEYOR.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT.

[OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

CARROLLTON, Cowlitz Co., W. T., Dec. 2.

The Joseph Kellogg ran on to a snag about one mile above here yesterday on her downward trip and stove a hole through her hull, and came in here for repairs. There was considerable excitement for a while, but upon examination it was found not to be serious. A patch was put on and she moved off as if nothing had happened, and came in this morning on usual time.

It is hoped that it may not interfere with her, as she is a new boat and the owners have spared neither pains nor money to build one among the best boats on the river, and are kind and accommodating to all their customers.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The improved state of the clipper freight market continues, and considerable activity is noticeable at the wharves. California ships in each line have two vessels in berth and both are doing a lively business, shipments comprising many classes of freight that have not been forwarded by this route for some time. Rates are still unchanged, but very firm. Tonnage continues in light supply and good demand from both our lines. The latest charters are the Paramatta and Portland, Lloyd's both, and in Van Vleck's line. The latter vessel is to load at Boston. The impression appears to gain ground that the ship Orpheus is loading at Philadelphia. Such is not the fact. The ship Theobald is the only vessel loading there.

Overland freights continue to hold on very well, but as the season draws to a close there are signs of dullness. Shipments the past week include 3726 packages tobacco, 291 cases canned goods, 51 cases mail, 6 bags nuts, 27 packages figs, 60 packages dates, 10 barrels currants, 80 cases olive oil, 252 kegs licorice, 53 cases indigo, cord, 150 boxes pepper, 3 bags, 3 boxes cheese, 27 bags coffee, 60 cases camel, 75 cases matches.

Steamer freights are not very active as the difference between the Mail Company and Pacific roads are not adjusted. The agent of the Mail Company does not care to antagonize the railroad until affairs are settled.

Markets are generally quiet and without animation.

Wheat—Quiet and a half lower, not responding to improved cables.

Barley—Dull.

Provisions and Rio coffee—unchanged.

Refined Sugars—Dull and flat, ⅛ lower.

Hides—Dull.

Turpentine—Quiet and easier.

Liverpool Grain Market.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 2.—A leading grain circular says: The grain trade continues dull at the various markets. Wheat is in demand. Cargoes in all positions are in poor request. A few Californian cargoes have been sold for shipment on the spot since Tuesday. In wheat there was retail business at rather cheaper rates. To-day at the market there was the usual attendance, with a quiet feeling. Wheat is in moderate demand at unchanged prices. Flour is in better inquiry and improved. Corn is not specially active and was less freely offered; prices unchanged.

ONE EXPERIENCE FROM MANY.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense—no one seemed to know what ailed me—that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, and when I told them what had helped me they said "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! Long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.—Home Journal.
